

Market Release

Michelle Peters
972-380-2911 x303

Body-Jet Water-Assisted Liposuction Establishes New Standard for Liposuction and Fat Harvesting

DALLAS –October 30, 2008 – Eclipsemed, Ltd is pleased to announce availability of Body-Jet, an innovative water-assisted liposuction solution, manufactured by Human Med based in Germany. Body-Jet is the first of its kind, offering patients a new and safer liposuction option.

While traditional liposuction basically destroys the fat cells, Body-Jet loosens the fat without requiring impact on the fat cell itself. Body-Jet uses only 25% of the infiltration fluid usually required for standard liposuction. This reduction in fluid results in less swollen mass, improved patient comfort and decreased tissue trauma. This new method allows for assessment of new contours during surgery which greatly reduces the number of corrective actions. Water-assisted liposuction can actually be performed under local anesthesia.

The science behind Body-Jet is a new method and cannula that simultaneously irrigates and aspirates the fat tissue. Blood vessels and nerves are not damaged. Body-Jet essentially flushes the fat instead of destroying it.

Body-Jet offers a superior harvesting opportunity for fat transfer. When immediately filtered with appropriate accessories, Body-Jet does not require the lengthy centrifuge process usually necessary to reduce water volume before a fat transfer.

“We are thrilled to partner with Eclipsemed,” said Arnd Kensy, CEO, Human Med. “This pioneering technology will change the face of liposuction and we look forward to supporting its introduction in the United States.”

“Body-Jet by Human Med is truly a game changer for liposurgery and fat harvesting,” said Tom O’Brien, CEO, Eclipsemed. “These advancements clearly provide surgeons with superior technology that will transform patient safety and clinical outcome.”

Patients experience little discomfort, quick healing and visibly precise results. Doctors will notice easy handling, fast patient turnover and satisfied clients. It will be introduced at the American Society of Plastic Surgery 2008 at McCormick Place, Chicago on November 2-4th in Eclipsemed, booth #481.

About Eclipsemed Ltd.

Eclipsemed is a leading distributor of aesthetic high-tech medical devices and supplies. Eclipsemed has established a reputation as a leader on the national aesthetic market scene. The recent launch of DOT Therapy is the most current example of how Eclipsemed has established itself as a leading force in bringing innovative products to market. Through its own direct sales force and team of independent agents, Eclipsemed continues to introduce products and solutions to the aesthetic marketplace.

###